Strategy before streams.

YOUR ROADMAP

Release day is not the finish line. It is the starting gun.

Most of the work that moves a song happens after it is out: the content you keep making, the people you keep talking to, and the numbers you keep reading. This plan gives every one of the 30 days a job, so you never have to ask what to do next.

THE 30-DAY MAP

DAYS 1-3 LAUNCH	DAYS 4-10 MOMENTUM	DAYS 11-20 EXPAND	DAYS 21-30 RELOAD
---------------------------	------------------------------	-----------------------------	-----------------------------

HOW TO USE IT

- One move a day. Each day has one main job. Do it before you scroll, reply or overthink.
- One primary platform. Pick the platform where your audience already lives and put most of your energy there.
- Write the numbers down. Day 1, 7, 14, 21 and 30. The scorecard near the end is built for it.
- Do it or break it. Every phase ends with a DO list and a BREAK IT list. The BREAK IT list is the mistakes that quietly kill momentum.

BEFORE DAY 1

- ☐ Pick your one primary platform
- ☐ Save your song link somewhere you can paste it in seconds
- ☐ List the 20 people you will message on release day
- ☐ Write your first caption and record one reaction clip in advance
- ☐ Open your scorecard so your Day 1 numbers are ready to record

This is a structure for making smarter decisions, not a promise of results. Genre, timing, content quality and consistency all change the outcome.

THE LAUNCH WINDOW

Make noise while people are paying attention.

DAY 1 Release day. Post the announcement on your main platform and put the link in your bio. Message your 20 closest supporters personally and ask them to stream, save and share. Go live or post a reaction video. Reply to every comment.

DAY 2 Tell the story. Post the story behind the song in 30 seconds: what inspired it and what it means. Repost every fan story and thank early listeners in public.

DAY 3 Show a new angle. Post a different 15-second moment from the song. Then open your dashboard and write down your starting numbers: streams, listeners, saves and where they came from.

DO IT

Ask for a specific action: stream, save, share.
Show your face and your personality, not only the cover art.
Answer people quickly while they are still excited.

BREAK IT

Posting the link once and disappearing.
Begging strangers to "check out my song" with no reason to care.
Ignoring the first people who show up.

YOUR DAY 1 CHECKLIST

- ☐ Link in bio updated
- ☐ Announcement posted on your primary platform
- ☐ 20 personal messages sent
- ☐ Live or reaction video posted
- ☐ Every comment answered
- ☐ Starting numbers recorded

SUPPORTER MESSAGE STARTER

"It's out today. Would you stream it, save it and send it to one person who would love it? It would mean a lot."

BUILD MOMENTUM

Find what people respond to, then make more of it.

- DAY 4 Double down. Find your best-performing clip from days 1 to 3. Remake it two ways: a new caption and a new opening line.
- DAY 5 Pitch playlists. Send 10 short, personal messages to independent playlist curators whose playlists genuinely fit your sound.
- DAY 6 Reach creators. Message 5 creators whose audience fits the song. Offer the track for free, with no pressure.
- DAY 7 Week 1 check. Record your numbers. Which clip won? Where did streams come from? Post a thank-you and invite people to save the song.
- DAY 8 Studio moment. Post a behind-the-scenes clip: recording, reacting or making something new.
- DAY 9 Feature your fans. Repost their videos and comments. Make supporters feel like part of the story.
- DAY 10 Follow up once. Send one short, friendly bump to curators and creators who have not replied, then let it go.

DO IT

Repeat what is working before inventing something new.

Keep pitches short, specific and genuine.

BREAK IT

Changing your message every single day.

Chasing every platform at once.

PITCH MESSAGE STARTER

"Hi [Name], I like what you do with [playlist or content]. My new song [title] is a [mood] track that feels close to [artist you both know]. Here is the link: [link]. Thank you for listening either way."

EXPAND YOUR REACH

Turn early attention into a wider circle.

DAY 11 Start your list. Offer a reason to join your email or WhatsApp list: an unreleased snippet or early access to the next song.

DAY 12 Go local. Aim one post at a single city or scene where your sound fits. Recognition often starts close to home.

DAY 13 Team up. Ask 3 artists at a similar level for a shout-out swap or a joint live session.

DAY 14 Week 2 check. Record your numbers. If one clip clearly wins, consider a small test ad on it, using only money you can afford to test with.

DAY 15 Go live. Play the song, answer questions and talk about what it means.

DAY 16 Explain a line. Break down a lyric or a production choice in under a minute.

DAY 17 Tease a new version. Preview an acoustic, instrumental or remix idea to refresh interest.

DAY 18 Reach DJs. Send the song to 5 DJs or tastemakers in the city you picked.

DAY 19 Reply day. Answer every comment and message from the last two weeks.

DAY 20 Compare. Put today's numbers next to Day 7. What grew? What stalled?

DO IT

Test your content before you spend on it.

Advertise curiosity about you, not just stream counts.

BREAK IT

Spending before you know what content works.

Forgetting the people already listening.

REVIEW AND RELOAD

Learn from the month, then set up the next move.

- | | |
|---------------|--|
| DAY 21 | Thank your core. Shout out your top supporters publicly and share what their support means. |
| DAY 22 | Refresh the song. Share a lyric visual, alternate cut or new clip so the song feels alive again. |
| DAY 23 | Pitch round two. Contact new curators and creators, adding any real traction you have gained. |
| DAY 24 | Ask for playlist adds. Invite supporters to add the song to their own playlists. |
| DAY 25 | Tease what is next. Give a first look at your next single: a snippet, a visual or the story. |
| DAY 26 | Pull the data. Note the top source of streams, top locations and total saves. |
| DAY 27 | Rank your content. Keep the two formats that earned the most attention and drop the rest. |
| DAY 28 | Write it down. What worked, what did not and what surprised you. |
| DAY 29 | Plan the next release. Set a date and a simple timeline for your next single. |
| DAY 30 | Announce what is next. Complete your scorecard and tell your audience what is coming. |

DO IT

Use the data to make the next release smarter.
Keep showing up after day 30.

BREAK IT

Judging a song by 30 days of streams alone.
Going quiet the moment the plan ends.

YOUR 30-DAY SCORECARD

Type straight into the boxes, or print it. Fill in each column on the day shown. The goal is not a perfect number. The goal is to see what changes.

METRIC	DAY 1	DAY 7	DAY 14	DAY 21	DAY 30
Total streams
Listeners
Saves
New followers
Top source of streams
Best clip (views)
Emails or DMs collected

THE REVIEW

Answer these honestly. Your next release starts here.

01 Which piece of content earned the most attention, and why do you think it did?

02 Where did most of your listeners come from?

03 Who are the 10 people who supported you the most?

04 What did you keep meaning to do but never did?

05 What is the one thing you will do differently on your next release?

At the end of 30 days you should know more than you did on release day. That information is what makes the next move smarter.
